
Black Lives Matter

June 18, 2020

June 2020

We in Undergraduate Production cannot adequately express the horror and sadness of the killings of George Floyd, Breonna Taylor, Tony McDade, and Rayshard Brooks, and countless other documented and undocumented acts of violence against black bodies. Each instance is an unjust taking of a life by a system that, by its nature, harbors racism and political- and social-sanctioned violence against the black community. We must all do our part to confront these injustices head-on, and to lift up the voices in our community that have been marginalized. Undergraduate Production stands in solidarity with the black community today, as we continue our work in supporting student art-makers.

Black Lives Matter.

We have created a new resource page [1] that holds a repository of resources for those looking to learn, looking to engage, or looking for inspiration as we work together towards the shared goal of lasting change. We invite members of our community to contact us with additional resources that you would like to see shared as we encourage continued discourse and artistic expression.

Source URL: <https://up.yalecollege.yale.edu/news/black-lives-matter>

Links

[1] <https://up.yalecollege.yale.edu/BIPOC-resources>